Optional/General comments	This article is essential to sensitize African communities, their politicians and leaders to the important problem of albinism. Some healers carry out ritual practices using their teeth, bones, genitals and other parts of their bodies. Others believe that their body parts have power in proportion to the youth of the victim and the intensity of their screams. In other places, such as sub-Saharan Africa, it is believed that one can be cured of HIV/AIDS by raping and practicing a ritual desecration in a girl with albinism. We must congratulate the authors for addressing the issue and the enormous utility that it has for Africa, raising awareness, informing and avoiding ancestral prejudices at this level and being able to give an opportunity to people who suffer from this problem in such a hostile environment due to atmospheric conditions. climatic and social
