

Editor's Comment:

Unfortunately, the Authors in revised version of the manuscript have not included many of reviewer's suggestions, regarding especially: the correction of the title, using alphabetical order of key words, maintaining same font, equal word spacing and line spacing, using a uniform style of references according to Journal's format. Moreover many parts of "Material and methods" section should be included in "Results" section – for example paragraph regarding "Antagonism of Trichoderma against Fusarium oxysporum with fig. 1 and table 3", as well as paragraph regarding "Quantitative estimation of chitinase activity of Trichoderma isolates" with table 4. In revised version of the manuscript the results of statistical analysis of the obtained results are not presented. And finally English needs still significant improvement. In my opinion the paper should not be published in present form, as it needs still major revision.
