PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
I thank the authors for revising the paper based on the previous comments and maintaining high quality. There are some minor improvements that can be done. <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The tables in the paper are not referenced anywhere in the paper.2. Figure 1 and 2 can be merged.3. It still lacks details where the system is deployed. Is it deployed in the cloud or hosted locally?4. Explain more details about this statement. Would be good if you can add a reference. "The Rapid Application Development methodology is particularly relevant for designing and implementing the Online Crime Report System in the law enforcement context."5. Add more details how the system distinguishes anonymous users in the backend, especially in the database schema.6. Add more details about how to validate the location and contact number provided by the user. This can prevent spam reporting.7. It might also be useful to add time of the incident in the reporting UI.
