	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments 1. Is the manuscript important for scientific community? (Please write few sentences on this manuscript) 2. Is the title of the article suitable? (If not please suggest an alternative title) 3. Is the abstract of the article comprehensive? 4. Are subsections and structure of the manuscript appropriate? 5. Do you think the manuscript is scientifically correct? 6. Are the references sufficient and recent? If you have suggestion of additional references, please mention in the review form. (Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	Fairly yes yes no, because it should address the overall topic in the first line. I added my comments in the text yes concerning #5: I did some corrections, for instance that any geographical position is to be given by Longitude, Latitude and Altitude (that's not Eurocentrism but Peruvian standard where experts on crop biodiversity conservation by indigenous people started to work, a necessity because the ecological belts on mountain slopes have indigenous names ). The season names in the Indian agricultural calendar should be given in the international calendar to assure a sound peer-review) #6 yes since that is a report on a field experiment
Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The term "fortnight" should be given in dates or days, as in British English a fortnight is a colloquial term for period of 14 days. Since it's colloquial it must be defined precisely for scientific use.
Optional/General comments	Comments are given in the text of the original article attached.
