

Editor's Comment:

I have reviewed the manuscript and have a few suggestions for improvement. Firstly, the abstract should be rewritten in a more concise and understandable manner, highlighting the aim, methodology, variables, dataset, results, and conclusions. Additionally, the references need to be formatted according to APA style, and all references mentioned in the text should be included in the reference section.

Furthermore, the conclusions and recommendations section should be clearer and address the limitations of the study. It would also be beneficial to compare the results with similar studies in the literature. Without these revisions, I believe it would be inappropriate to publish the manuscript.
