

Editor's Comment:

The manuscript requires additional revisions. There are terms used in languages other than English that need to be addressed. Additionally, I believe Figure 1 should be more detailed if the authors wish to retain it. At this point, I don't think including a photograph of a spectrophotometer is necessary, as it is a well-known instrument.

Furthermore, I would appreciate it if all changes made compared to the initial submitted version were highlighted in yellow. Lastly, the article should include a discussion on how the authors' results compare to previously published work in the field.

Once these changes are made, the manuscript can proceed to publication.
