

Editor's Comment:

Manuscript number: 2024/IAARJ/127281

This manuscript seems to be a good piece of work in the field of solar activity which is highly relevant to the journal titled. In accordance to the reviewers' suggestions the manuscript has been revised and which is now in a well defined form, but the new references (given in reply to reviewers comments) which are quoted in the main text of the manuscript have not been included in the reference section and which has to be included before publication. So I recommend this manuscript to publish only after including the references.
