The Dermatology Life Quality Index (DLQI) serves as a valuable tool to assess the impact of skin diseases on patients' daily lives. This research aims to determine the specific DLQI criteria applicable to Libyan patients diagnosed with pemphigus. Understanding the specific DLQI criteria relevant to Libyan pemphigus patients is crucial for tailoring effective healthcare interventions and improving overall patient well-being. This research contributes valuable insights into the unique aspects of pemphigus-related quality-of-life issues in the Libyan population, paving the way for enhanced patient care strategies. Alternative title Determination of Dermatology Life Quality Index criteria in Libyan pemphigus patients Grammar!! Give answers to questions Yes Yes References.
