Optional/General comments	It is a piece of scientific work that can also applied beyond agriculture sector and women The topic is very sensitive and tries to address a very disadvantaged group of society. In that aspect, it is well accepted. But the scale is so narrow and covers a limited group. This could have included women working in food, and textile industries. These women are the ones who are suffering the most. The radio service should also the marketing challenges. The other major deficiency of this manuscript is there are no graphs, and tables which could speak more than pages of plan notes. I advise the author to go back and produce if possible, some graphs and tables can be included using the raw data collected during data collection.
