Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The language and English quality of the manuscript "Turmeric; cutting edge of India's merchandise and global medicine" is generally suitable for scholarly communication. The manuscript maintains a professional tone and is mostly clear and comprehensible. However, there are areas where language can be improved for better clarity and readability. A thorough proofreading and minor language editing would enhance its overall quality, ensuring it aligns with the high standards expected in scholarly publications.
Optional/General comments	The manuscript presents a comprehensive view of turmeric's role in both traditional and modern contexts, highlighting its importance in various spheres. The interdisciplinary approach, encompassing historical, chemical, and economic perspectives, offers valuable insights. However, to enhance its scholarly impact, the manuscript could benefit from a more detailed methodological description in its chemical analysis section. Also, expanding the discussion on the latest research trends in turmeric's medicinal applications would add depth. Overall, the paper is a valuable contribution, but these enhancements would strengthen its scientific and academic relevance.
