Optional/General comments	This study is a literature review of opioid usage between the elderly population and the risk factors of opioid overdose in this age group. Thanks to the authors who endeavor to shed light on this important subject. According to the journal peer review policy, this study has the potential for publication after some minor revisions. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. This study discussed the important risk factors mostly in the elderly population. It would increase the quality of the study if they discussed the young populations too. 2. It would be valuable to discuss the prevalence of opioid overdose in different regions, especially in the Middle East. 3. This study implied that the rise in opioid prescription is one of the main reasons for the rise in opioid overdose but, it would be great if more information about opioid addiction leading to opioid overdose were given. 4. The second paragraph of the introduction doesn't have any references. Please add a related reference. 5. The last paragraph of the introduction which is about the price of the drug depends on the region. It is better to state the region that this data came from. Hope the best for you with your publication pathway.
