

Editor's Comment:

Accepted after minor revision

I carefully examined both the initial and modified editions of the review article, taking into account the feedback provided by the reviewers. The reviewers' comments were relevant and constructive, contributing significantly to the improvement of the manuscript's overall quality. It is apparent that the authors skilfully incorporated revisions based on the reviewers' suggestions. As a result, the manuscript has been refined, presenting clearer content, increased thoroughness, and better alignment with the journal's thematic focus.

I recommend accepting the manuscript in its present form.
