If you have suggestion of additional references, please mention in the review form. (Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	The manuscript of site-specific nutrient management is an effective method of preserving & developing any field of study or work. The title is fine, the abstract & sub sections was designed good. The manuscript provides a detailed study of the theoretical process & it's flow, it does explain the benefits of SSNM & also the disadvantages of previous methods. It's scientifically correct on a theory basis, when we put it on a practical scale, there is not much detail provided, each terrain or location has different features & the crops grown has different parameters, we need more info on whether this method is focused on a few terrains with similar features or can it be applied on all terrains? For example, take saltwater grown crops or sea weed farming, normal values cannot be applied for those crops.
Minor REVISION comments <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications? 	Yes
Optional/General comments	Site-specific or area-specific management / measurement has already been adopted in a variety of scientific and engineering sectors; this method gives thorough data that can be evaluated for any form of improvement. This method can also be used with larger plant varieties. For example, we can use this approach on a coconut farm to prevent root-level infestation.
