

Editor's Comment:

I have gone through the manuscript. It is meaningful in terms of its set objective. However, I found a few things inconsistent. First, the English language in the manuscript is very poor and needs to be improved. I attached the edited version just for reference. The author needs to do it on their own. Another issue is related to the types of opinions gathered by the researcher. There is hardly any deeper thinking, understanding, or relational justification visible in the manuscript. There is no clear investigation or analysis of what happens to the participants after they attend the exhibition or the expo. I hardly see any remarkable academic input in such studies.

In my opinion, the author must inquire with the second—or multiple-time participants to determine the impact of such exhibitions on their production activities.

The title may be changed from "Impact" to "Role" of the exhibitions in awareness and interest building.

The manuscript may be accepted, provided the author brings in some of these aspects.
