Optional/General comments	The work was done correctly, methodologically, with a properly chosen way of reviewing the data and processing the results and correctly drawn conclusions. The lack of work parasitological section that would determine the exact types of parasites from certain genera, which would give the work incomparably greater weight and importance. Even though this research was done in this way, it gives a solid and beautiful presentation of established parasite genera and their seasonal dynamics. Correct, well-written, readable and interesting work.
