Optional/General comments	The study referring to a problem of absences from hospital consultations for many diseases during the pandemic in many countries is very interesting and the longer the absence from consultations, the worse. I think it was something expected due to not being able to leave their homes and the fears of contagion. In the conclusion we talk about post-pandemic but not pre-pandemic since the title mentions it. It would be necessary to specify it a little more
