PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments 1. Is the manuscript important for scientific community? (Please write few sentences on this manuscript) 2. Is the title of the article suitable? (If not please suggest an alternative title) 3. Is the abstract of the article comprehensive? 4. Are subsections and structure of the manuscript appropriate? 5. Do you think the manuscript is scientifically correct? 6. Are the references sufficient and recent? If you have suggestion of additional references, please mention in the review form. (Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	1. The manuscript's significance to the scientific community Because it discusses the post-harvest processing and quality evaluation of gari and fufu flour from preserved cassava roots, the manuscript is important to the scholarly community. Owing to the fact that cassava is a staple crop in many areas, knowing how storage impacts the quality of its products helps enhance food processing, storage strategies, and food security in general. 2. The title appropriately sums up the main ideas and objectives of the research. A small clarification may be made as follows, though: "Assessment of Proximate and Sensory Properties of Gari and Fufu Flour from Cassava Roots Stored for 14 Days." 3. Comprehensiveness of the abstract: The abstract successfully encapsulates the goals, methods, findings, and conclusions of the study. 4. The manuscript's structure and subsections are suitable. The results are presented logically, and the technique is explained in detail. The discussion does a good job of interpreting the results in light of the body of current literature. 5. It seems that the manuscript complies with scientific principles. The data is correctly analysed, and the experiments are well-designed. The findings corroborate the conclusions reached. 6. There are enough references, including current research that is pertinent to the subject.
Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The English language and quality are appropriate for academic discourse. For readability and clarity, little typographical and grammatical mistakes should be fixed.
Optional/General comments	Think about giving more thorough details about the statistical analysis that was done for the study. The methodology section may benefit from a brief summary of the panellists' training in sensory evaluation.
