

Editor's Comment:

I have reviewed the information submitted about Work JERR 118983, with the initial title "Building a Security Operations Center With Incident Response Capabilities" in the first version, and the title changed to "Building a Scalable Security Operations Center: A Focus on Open-Source Tools" in the second version. I note that the authors have complied with several statements made by the referees. However, in the references section there are several papers (7, 17-24) that are not cited in the text. All papers that appear in the references section must be properly cited in the text. If not, articles not cited in the text should be removed from the references list at the end of the article.

Once this is corrected, the article can be published.
