However, the article needs much improvement by adding more information explaining why this research is important and how this research differs from previous research? Describe the research methods in more detail and most importantly the results need to be discussed in depth. The references also need to be added with updated references (please see my comments in the manuscript). Yes the title is suitable The abstract needs improvement (please see my comments in the manuscript). Subsections need to added in the material and methods sections i.e The fertilizers used; Physical properties of fertilizers; statistical analysisi if any (please see my comments in the ms) Not really because the research was not well designed and the results were not discussed in depth. The bibliography is very small and needs to be added with the latest references
