

Editor's Comment:

The author made the necessary change as stipulated by the two reviewers. But for me personally I would have like a more and better description on the material and methods. Because it is difficult to understand how the plant was analyzed. Yes they used the different instruments but I would like to know how. But since the author has made the changes suggested by the reviewers I would accept the article. As a short communication but not a full article.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Elmarie Van Der Watt
University of the Free State, South Africa.