

Editor's Comment:

I have gone through both the original and revised manuscripts and also reviewers comments. Considering the importance and significance of maintaining GBT, training of prop roots becomes essential and the methodology of training is being described in the manuscript. I have come across linguistic errors in the manuscript which I have corrected in track mode. I recommend the manuscript for publication in the JEAJ after incorporating the indicated corrections with respect to text and cited references (nos.) as well as sequence of the references in the list.

The decision from my side is the manuscript may be accepted (after incorporating the corrections indicated by me).
