

Editor's Comment:

In general, I can say that the submitted manuscript has scientific value and is of interest.

The introduction and the material and methods section are well presented. The results and discussion section is presented in a very summarized form.

I think she needs to get stronger. the authors of the article have made relevant corrections and improvements according to the recommendations of the reviewers.

I believe that the final version of the article can also be published in this form.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Kosev Valentin
Associate Professor, Institute of Forage Crops, Pleven, Bulgaria.