

Editor's Comment:

Having studied the manuscript materials and reviews from reviewers, the following can be noted.

The manuscript's research is relevant and significant.

The subject of the manuscript corresponds to the direction of the journal.

However, there is a note. It is incorrect to write "inflammation of paws in rats." That's right - inflammation of the joints or inflammation of the soft tissues of the extremities, or simply arthritis.

Thus, I recommend accepting the manuscript.
