

Editor's Comment:

I have reviewed the documents about this manuscript and am satisfied with the authors' response to the reviewer's comments. Here I have one suggestion for improvement of the manuscript: In the Material and Methods section, the author should provide the methods for identifying the microorganisms into genus/species, like Pseudomonas sp. Bacillus sp. Currently, the author just presents the names of microorganisms in the Result section, but I don't know how to approach this conclusion.

After completing the methodology for identification of microorganisms, this manuscript should be accepted for publication on your journal.
