Optional/General comments	Sir, paper was read and found interesting. The researchers have presented everything scientifically and explained very well and the research was very beneficial for the world society. There was no deficiency in the paper. Abstract was written well. Methodology was chosen proper for the study while result was explained in a scientific way. Similarly conclusion was also appreciated. References were found proper. The researcher has selected very good topic for the study. On one side there is human resources while on the other side there is machinery. Machinery has replaced the work of the human being while still without human resources the agriculture production increasing is impossible. So human training is necessary for the machinery operation. Well trained labors play the role for agriculture development.
