

Editor's Comment:

The revised article does not take into account very seriously the remarks provided by the reviewer and required another round of evaluation.

"The manuscript lacks the scientific rigor and technical intricacy that is typically expected in a review of high quality. It primarily presents preexisting information without providing a critical assessment or novel perspectives." is not taken into account for example.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Michel Mainguenaud
France.