Reviewer: Manuscript number: Ms_IJPSS_118717 Title: Impact of mid-season moisture stress on yield attributes and seed quality in groundnut genotypes Comments: The present manuscript entitled " Impact of mid-season moisture stress on yield attributes and seed quality in groundnut genotypes " is an interesting research work. Authors have studied reaction of different genotypes to moisture stress. The tested in present research could provide valuable foundation for enhancing yield traits. However, authors needed to remove grammatical mistakes throughout the manuscript. The seed yield is one the most important traits that authors must add this trait to the article. The discussion is very weak. I should mention that this is not the full essay but just a brief summary to be presented in scientific congresses.
