

Editor's Comment:

I studied the document set you've sent to me and can conclude the following. Rather interesting manuscript was evaluated by two independent and highly competent experts in the field of research. Both of them assessed the manuscript as valuable for our science and both recommended different sufficient changes - major revisions. The author(s) accepted their recommendations and fulfilled sufficient revision and made many changes in the manuscript according to recommendations of the reviewers. I'd like to send the revised version of the manuscript to reviewers for re-evaluation and if they will be satisfied with this version - the paper is ready for publication.
