What is the evidence? Citation or your data? Better to clarify it or remove this kind of sentences. ➤ For many nations in the tropics, coffee is a major source of foreign exchange. Same suggestion as above. ➤ In 2022, global coffee production reached 10.89 million tons, with Brazil, Vietnam, and Indonesia leading the output. Same problem, improve it accordingly. ➤ Despite being the eighth-largest coffee producer, India's export ranking is relatively low due to significant domestic consumption. Same problem, improve it accordingly. ➤ Improve other part of this abstract section accordingly. ➤ This study employs standard econometric tools, such as compound annual growth rate, Cuddy Della Index, Markov chain analysis, etc. The Johansen co-integration test revealed a long-run equilibrium relationship among selected Arabica and Robusta coffee markets. Furthermore, the pair-wise Granger causality test identified unidirectional causality in price transmission among certain Arabica markets, while bidirectional causality was observed among Robusta markets. The paper also highlights the declining coffee yield in India due to biotic and abiotic stressors, despite an increase in production and cultivation area. The study concludes with a discussion on the dynamics of Indian coffee exports, where high domestic demand and fluctuating international prices contribute to the sector's variability. This research provides valuable insights into the performance and prospects of the coffee industry within the Indian economy, offering a basis for future policy and market interventions. ➤ Your abstract shows following deficiency that need to be improved <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Methodology of study. ○ Time of study ○ Sample size, sampling techniques ○ Major concrete findings ○ Recommendations based on those finding on last line of abstract
