This manuscript is of significant importance to the scientific community as it addresses the critical issue of land degradation and its impact on crop production in Jhajjar, Haryana. By highlighting the specific factors contributing to reduced crop yields, the study provides valuable insights that can inform sustainable land management practices and policy decisions. I appreciate the manuscript's focus on a localized problem with broader implications, as it not only contributes to the understanding of land degradation but also offers potential solutions that could be applicable to other regions facing similar challenges. The detailed analysis and data-driven approach make this work a valuable resource for researchers and policymakers alike.
