While the COVID-19 era as world pandemic has passed, this study provides important lessons from which similar pandemics can be mitigated in future. It is important to acknowledge that though the magnitude of COVID-19 was high in term of speeding and death rate, it was not the first pandemic and may not the last, hence lessons from the study are crucial. Insights on how future pandemics can be mitigated are provided. However, the author needs to update the language to show that COVID-19 era is past, but we still learn from it. For instance in the abstract first line in this section reads "The COVID-19 pandemic has necessitated various control" showing that COVID-19 is still on, which is not so. The abstract can be improved by excluding the word has to read "The COVID-19 pandemic necessitated various control" Other sections of the article should similarly be improved.
