

Editor's Comment:

The Article contains some faults which should be checked. Please, read the Conclusion section, in which the names of analyzed plant parameters are written in upper and lower case letters. The upper cases should not be used inside a sentence. Furthermore, what is statistically significant ? A word "difference" should be added. And again, word statistically is written in upper case. I suggest to remove a sign "@" because it is not a mathematic symbol. If there is , please give its meaning. According to such a faults, all manuscript should be revied again.
