

Editor's Comment:

I read both the manuscript of the mentioned paper and the review reports carefully. Anyway, since this paper has already been peer-reviewed by respected reviewers, and the amendments have been carried out by the author(s), I accept it; however, such research has already been raised and published many times. The author(s) must carry out a minor amendment. I strongly recommend that the authors add some new references to the References section of the manuscript because many existing references are old.
