Journal Name:	International Journal of Plant &amp; Soil Science
Manuscript Number:	Ms_ IJPSS _128925
Title of the Manuscript:	Exploring the Potential of Sulphur Nanoparticles in Soybean (Glycine max) Cultivation
Type of the Article	Research paper

PART 1: Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's Feedback (Please correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Please write a few sentences regarding the importance of this manuscript for the scientific community. A minimum of 3-4 sentences may be required for this part.	This article contributes to expanding knowledge on the use of nanoparticles in agriculture. Plants exhibit an extraordinary diversity, making it essential to optimize protocols for each nutrient/crop. Articles like this are valuable not only for advancing research on soya bean but also for guiding similar studies in other crops.
Is the title of the article suitable? (If not please suggest an alternative title)	Yes
Is the abstract of the article comprehensive? Do you suggest the addition (or deletion) of some points in this section? Please write your suggestions here.	Yes, the abstract is comprehensive and exhaustive.
Is the manuscript scientifically, correct? Please write here.	Although straightforward and schematic, the work is conducted with scientific rigor, both in terms of the experimental design and the selection of analyses performed.
Are the references sufficient and recent? If you have suggestions of additional references, please mention them in the review form.	The most recent source cited is from 2021, the others are quite dated. I personally would try to investigate whether in recent years there have been similar studies on the same species or others and on this or other nutrients.
Is the language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The English is clear, but I invite the authors to use more precise punctuation and more formal language to increase the quality of the manuscript.
Optional/General comments	I suggest inserting tables after introducing them in the body of the text and not before.
