

Editor's Comment:

Scanning through the revised manuscript and compared it with the original manuscript, I noticed that the authors have not improved much on the quality of the paper suggested by the two reviewers.

My decision on this paper is, therefore, not readied for publication acceptance on the ground that:

1. This paper is not well structured.
2. Keywords are missing.
3. Information on the wood based industries are very little and not supported by adequate references.
4. Table 1 and Figure 1 have not been referred to in the text. Besides, these information are not that essential to the main theme of this paper and taking up too much space.
5. Many flaws with the entire paper, such as typing error in the first line of the abstract (iindustries); "et al" instead of "et al."; "&" instead of "and".
6. There is no conclusion for this review.
7. With less than 15 total references, it is extremely difficult to classify it as a review article. Besides, "anon" is not considered as a real reference.
8. The reference list is not alphabetically ordered.
9. The two "minor revisions" by the two reviewers are highly questionable.

As such, I would highly recommend authors should substantially, seriously rewrite the entire article and resubmit for further review process.
