

Editor's Comment:

I received email about the above-mentioned manuscript revised version. I am very sorry to say the author did not meet all the comments I have provided in the last review. It is difficult to review again and again if author dont follow instructions and unnecessary submitting quickly. The following Issue highlighting

1. as per previous article only regression analysis performed and I highlighted to perform exploratory factor analysis before performing only regression.
2. Author did not follow and performed EFA. because I observed before that the regression result is not supporting r square value is not meet the level of acceptance (refer to the table 3 model summary)
3. page 19 and other pages author indicted about table 5 but there is no table 5 available in the manuscript.
4. it is an academic referred journal publication that is why I suggested to remove all graphical pie chart and other bar chart. I think real fact or table format is enough to prove the fact of issues. Yes we encourage to provide graphical presentation if the report writing for a project rather than a journal article.
5. I think author is very careful and because of that did not perform, I commented before.
6. Need proof reading full article.
