

Editor's Comment:

Based on the evaluations of specialized reviewers, the above-mentioned manuscript deserves to be published in this Journal, but before its publication, considerable revisions need to be made. My comments are below:

- Several punctuation, spelling, and grammatical errors were found. Some examples from the abstract: "laborary, was observe, were lover, inflammatory" . The authors must go through the text and correct all the spelling and grammatical issues.

Once the revision of these errors is done I suggest the publication of this paper in AJFAR Journal.
