

Editor's Comment:

I read the manuscript titled "Jehovah's Witness Parents' Experience with Traditional Anaemia Treatment for Children" carefully.

I do not consider this manuscript worthy of publication due to the lack of ethics committee approval and the fact that it is far below scientific research and scientific writing rules. First of all, the author should carefully read the referee's criticisms and rearrange the article in line with these criticisms unless there is a scientific counter-justification. However, the author has not considered any correction suggestions or criticisms written by reviewers.
