

Editor's Comment:

We carefully analyzed the evaluation process and the final paper.

Unfortunately, the author did not make all the improvements requested by the reviewers.

As a result, the paper can be accepted for publication only after making the following improvements recommended by reviewers:

- the table must have in the sub-note - presented all the abbreviations used in the table
- conclusions should be developed and recommendations for future research added
- the bibliography must be edited according to the requirements specified by the reviewers (Silva RP, et al. (2001) is not ok).
