

Editor's Comment:

My opinion is that the paper is interesting and important for policy makers, but I would suggest that you check the following aspects:

- English language - I would strongly suggest that the English language editor checks the text:
- References: I believe, that it is important to indicate the Source of the Figures, and Source of the data (for example at Figure 2)
- References in the text: I believe that it is important the the references are correctly included in the text: for example paragraph 4 in the introduction cites verbatim a person, but there is no link to the reference.
- There are several English language mistakes in the reference list, as well as citation style mistakes.

After these "technical" corrections, I believe that the paper is ready for publication.
