

Editor's Comment:

1. The title is misleading as views in scientific parlance could mean different things therefore what is in the results and what should actually be in the title is Perception.
2. The aims of the study are not clearly defined. In one place authors talk about views, while in other places they make reference to Attitude and knowledge. The aims should come immediately after the introduction
3. Methods section is grossly deficient as pointed out in the body of the manuscript.
4. The study did not in any way indicate that it was a comparative study between persons in Turkey and Saudi Arabia
5. Results are not well presented , for instance there should be a table on socio-demographic characteristics of the respondents
6. What was presented in Table 1 is actually perception and the table should be overhauled completely for comparison to be addressed
7. There was no section on discussion rather what we have is conclusion and recommendations which is too lengthy for that purpose. This should be converted to the discussion and reference to be made to other studies

DECISION: In view of the obvious and important defects in the paper, all major corrections are needed.
