

Editor's Comment:

The authors did not make the corrections requested by me. They claim that this is the requirement of the journal. I think it is a mistake.

The authors do not understand that this specification of bibliographic references can be made in [1] but when discussing in the third person.

When talking in the first person, meaningGeorgeous said ... you can not use the expression[1] said ...to be used ... Georgeous [1] said

In these conditions, I do not recommend accepting the paper for publication.
