Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments	Although the authors state that: "The best blends based on the optimization of nutritional compositions of the flour blends were 80:12.68:7.32 and 80:13.21:6.79 (wheat mushroom and unripe plantain)". It would be interesting if they had placed the nutritional composition of these mixtures. From the observation of table 2, the best mixture would be the one that has 83.33 WH, 13.33 MF and 3.33 UF, given that they have the highest values of proteins and lipids, it would be interesting to include this in the conclusions or that place the nutritional information that arises from the response surface method.
