Compulsory REVISION comments	As this topic is not a novelty, authors must clearly stress the implications and contribution of their research. The literature review is presented, but there is no further discussion on the gap found from this process. Also, the use of the dependent variable needs to be strongly defended. Finally, authors should improve the paper readability. It was written in relatively poor English, with also punctuation issues. There are also issues regarding the APA model and paper formatting (references, tables, spaces, etc.).
