Compulsory REVISION comments	Very interesting article with relevant subject. The different sections are quite well developed and analysed. Excellent introduction. The method used is well described, as the research design, data analysis, discussion, and conclusions. The subject is a very relevant socioenvironmental topic and in some aspects similar to what we can see worldwide. The article needs some minor typing adjustments and the references as well. Some I have already done. To me this is a very adequate and good article
