This study is quite timely and relevant. However, the paper needs editorial scrutiny to make it publishable. Observations 1 .Objectives “Specifically, the perception of gender preference and factors responsible for gender preference among men were assessed as a helpful approach to enhancing acceptance of children and male involvement in issues relating to pregnancy and childbirth, thereby ensuring that women get maximum spousal support irrespective of the fetal gender.” Corrected Version The objectives of this study are to consider gender preference for children among men in Isoko South Local Government Council of Oleh. The study is to ascertain the acceptance of children and male involvement in issues related to pregnancy and childbirth. The study aims to establish the spousal support women get irrespective of the fetal gender. Study design 2.1 Study Design This study was a descriptive survey The study design is relatively short for a research design. Would you please explain why you have decided to use a descriptive study? This part of the paper should at least have a minimum of a paragraph. Population In the study population, please specify why you were able to identify that the selected men
