Compulsory REVISION comments	This retrospective study describes the laryngeal tumors seen in the University of Port Harcourt Teaching Hospital between the years 2009 to 2018. The epidemiological characteristics (age range and gender distribution) and the main clinical manifestations of these lesions are highlighted. The manuscript contains three keywords, three figures, and twenty-three references. Overall, it is a correct manuscript, although some remarks are made. Specific comments on different sections of the manuscript are summarized. Abstract All the abbreviations and acronyms, although well-known, should be explained the first time they are used as you correctly do in other sections of your manuscript. Keywords The manuscript presents only three keywords. According to the journal's guidelines, provide about 4-8 keywords. For keywords, where possible, please use Medical Subject Headings terms (MeSH Terms). None of them is a MeSH term. Alternative MeSH terms proposed could be "laryngeal neoplasms" better than "laryngeal tumor", "carcinoma, squamous cell" rather than "squamous cell carcinoma". These suggestions about keywords are optional, not mandatory. Other manuscript sections In the text, citations should be indicated by the reference number in square brackets [1], not as superscripts¹. Please, correct this. Please, provide further information about statistical software (company, address, etc.). References Total number of manuscript references: 23. The reference format does not match the journal's instructions about references. References should be checked carefully to transcribe them accurately according to the reference format. All references should follow the following style: Reference to a journal: 1. Hilly M, Adams ML, Nelson SC. A study of digit fusion in the mouse embryo. Clin Exp Allergy. 2002;32(4):489-98. Note: List the first six authors followed by et al. Note: Use of DOI number for the full-text article is encouraged. (if available). Note: Authors are also encouraged to add other database's unique identifier (like PUBMED ID). For further information on this topic, please consult the following link: http://peerreviewcentral.com/page/general-guideline-for-authors Figures Total number of manuscript figures: 3. The figures have appropriate figure legends.
