Compulsory REVISION comments	To issue an opinion on this article, the following points were observed: Introduction 1.Reference [2] is not the DSM5. 2. Some characters need to be deleted from the text as the character at the end of this paragraph. “According to the Diagnostic criteria of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders,5th Edition,DSM-5, the incidence of autism is 16.8‰[2]” General information 3. Sections 2 and 3 were enumerated. Why Introduction did not? Research methods 4. Is it 3. Research methods or 3 Research methods? Sections enumeration needs standardization. Research tools 5. This section is clear. The results 6. Figure 1: Label X: I can not understand the word in Chinese in Figure 1. Please, rewrite the word in English. 7. Figure 1: Label Y: Y axes is not labeled. Is that right? 8. Table 1. Some words need special attention. Ex: project, head CT. Discussion 9. In the discussion section, I found a paragraph two times written. It starts with “The main manifestation of autism is communication disorder, including the following two aspects: (1) Non-verbal communication disorder, children with this disorder often cry or scream to express their discomfort or need.” References 10. Needs to be rewritten to the format of the journal. 11. One more time: Reference [2] is not the DSM5.
