Compulsory REVISION comments	The idea of this study is interesting and worthy. However, considering the many articles in this field, it seems that this article does not have a good innovation and also some results do not seem to be correct (database too lean). The following modification should be made: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Abstract: some of the resulted should be mentioned in this section.- As you know, many papers have been done on Catalyst Optimization Design based on Artificial Neural Network. What is the novelty of your paper? Please note exactly and add in the paper,- Most of the results are just reported in the paper and there is no strong analysis. Further analysis should be performed for each result.
