Compulsory REVISION comments	No
Minor REVISION comments	1. I expected to see what other researchers had done in that area so as to carve out what this present researcher intends to do, which amounts to the gap in literature, but I did not see that. That will also allow us see if some other work is being wholly lifted. Therefore, I suggest this researcher reviews empirical literature from where we can see that which other studies have not done, he wants to do. 2. Somewhere under methodology, I read 'the theoretical ICOR concept...' Methodology is not where to discuss the theoretical underpin of the study. Go back to literature review and establish the sub-chapter theoretical review, where you will discuss the mentioned theory in details and anchor your work to it.
Optional/General comments	The work is good
